Verification of Nonconforming Rights establishes a nonconforming use or a nonconforming structure. A Nonconforming Use is a use, of a building or land, which was lawfully established but does not conform to the regulations of the present title. A Nonconforming Structure is a structure, or portion thereof, that was lawfully established but does not conform to the regulations of the present title.

The building or use must have been legally established prior to 1956 or the date of annexation (when the property was added to the City of Riverside). The building must have been used or the use in operation continuously since the above date with no lapses of 180 days or more. In addition, if a non-residential structure is destroyed to the extent of more than 50% of the value, the nonconforming use may not be replaced. If a residential structure is destroyed to the extent of more than 50% of the value, it may be rebuilt in its entirety subject to approval of a minor condition use permit. It is the applicant’s responsibility to prove the lawful establishment of the uses or buildings.

APPLICATION SUBMITTAL: Applications will be conditionally accepted on the presumption that the information, materials and signatures are complete and accurate. If the application is incomplete or inaccurate, your project may be delayed until corrections or additions are received.

APPLICATION PROCESSING: Upon receipt of a complete and accurate application including applicable fees, Planning staff will review your application and prepare a staff report which will be mailed to you. Extra copies are available from the Planning & Building Department.

TIME: The initial review will be done within 30 days of submittal of a complete application.

HEARINGS: If a hearing is required, the applicant, a representative, or the legal owner should be present.

APPEAL PROCESS: If your request is denied, or if you disagree with any of the conditions of approval, you have the right to appeal. Appeal information is available from the Planning & Building Department, on the City website or in the final report.

PLANNING FEES: See current Fee Schedule (FILING FEES ARE GENERALLY NOT REFUNDABLE)
