

program description:

The Artificial Turf Rebate program is a water conservation incentive that offers residential home owners a chance to install artificial turf in place of grass to reduce outdoor water use.

do you know?

The installation of artificial turf at a typical home can conserve approximately 22,000 gallons of water per year.

Artificial turf requires no fertilizer, no pesticides, no mowing and reduces urban run-off caused by irrigation.

Artificial turf cuts down on the amount of green waste going into landfills.

You can save water by replacing infrequently used lawn areas with low-water use plants, ground covers or artificial turf.
